Tommy Cumming (centre) puts the ball past goalkeeper Terzini in Essendon Croatia's 4-0 win against Juventus last Sunday. Croatia clashes with Makedonia at Olympic Park this Sunday.

Essendon Croatia may charter a plane to take fans to Adelaide for the Philips Cup match against Beograd at Hindmarsh Stadium next Wednesday night

Croatia team manager Frank Burin said the plane could return after the match, so that fans would not have to take time off from work.

The Philips Cup second round starts tonight (Wednesday) with matches in Adelaide and Brisbane. West Adelaide Hellas and Adelaide City Juventus clash at Hindmarsh Stadium at 7.30 pm, while Brisbane Llons meet Brisbane City at Perry Park at 8 pm.

There are two Cup matches at Wentworth Park in Sydney on Friday afternoon.

They are St George v. Western Suburbs at 1 pm and Hakoah-Easts v. Sydney Olympic at 3 pm.

Olympiakos of Greece will play three games in Australia, possibly in December.

The club has signed a contract with South Melbourne Hellas, whose president Sam Papasavas completed negotiations during a holiday in Greece.

Mr Papasavas is also chairman of the Philips League.

He said this week Olympiakos was trying to arrange a tour for December.

If this is not possible, the tour will take place next

If this is not possible, the tour will take place next June.
Olympiakos, the first major Greek club to visit Australia, will play in Melbourne, Adelaide and Sydney. One game — possibly in Adelaide — will be against a Philips League eleven, and proceeds will go to the league.

The game in Melbourne will be against South Melbourne Helias.

Mr Papasavas said Olympiakos was impressed by reports about Australia from members of the Greek national squad which toured here recently.

Two members of that squad play for Olympiakos — John Kyrastas and Petros Keravitis.
Olympiakos also features the great goalscorer Anton Antoniadis, who transferred recently from Panathinaikos. His signing-on fee was a cool $100,000.

Ampol Cup may include

Melbourne's three Philips League clubs and the First Division champion have been invited to take part in next summer's Victorian Ampol Cup.

However, there is dis-agreement about how gate takings from the preliminary rounds are to be split up.

The VSF has asked the Philips League clubs to put their views by August 8.

There will probably be a meeting between VSF officials and leaders of Hellas, Alexander and JUST to negotiate the terms of the PSL clubs' perticipation.

German scheme of licensing for PSL

The Philips League may introduce club licences which can be revoked if clubs do not fulfil their obligations.

PSL manager John Frank said he would recommend the licensing scheme to the league's council of clubs.

A similar scheme exists in West Germany, one of the countries Mr Frank visited on a recent study tour.

He spoke about the tour to meeting of the Australian society of the Australian society of the Australian Secretary of the Vineyard Restaurant in St Kilda last week.

ASF-PSIL relationship patterned on the German set-up more than any other," Mr Frank sald.

He said the German Bundesliga licenses its clubs on a yearly basis. "In theory, if Moenchen-

Mr Frank made a detailed

CHARLTON SET

The great Bobby Charlton is about to join Newcastle KB United.

One of the finest midfield players the world has seen, Charlton was capped 106 times for England and has scored more goals for England than any other player. He will play guest games for Newcastle, take part in promotion and probably run a few coaching clinics for vounsters.

It is likely that Charlton will play in a PSL match planned for Lismore later this year.

The match will be in addition to a tournament run for Northern Rivers clubs and organised with the help of Newcastle and Tooth's Breweries.

The 16 teams in the competition are to be split up into four groups of four each, playing double-headers to decide which of them advances to the finals

The VSF proposes that takings from these matches be split equally between all clubs.

However, the PSL clubs

LEAGUE FINES MARCO $1500

The Philips League management committee has imposed fines totalling $1500 on Marconi and a $300 fine on Brisbane City for breaches of PSL rules.

The fines were imposed at a PSL management committee meeting in Adelaide. League manager, John Frank, sald the main item of discussion was the so called "Marconi affair". Three weeks ago Marconi was fined $200 by the Australian Soccer Federation for refusing to release Peter Sharne and Paul Degney for Australia's game against Greece.

Mr Frank said a third inci-dent, also involving Marconi, was discussed at the meeting. The matter involved an in-cident at Brisbane City on June 25 in which Marconi coach Rale Rasic was truck by a Brisbane City official.

David Webb of QPR — it was his penalty Christidis saved to put AEK into the UEFA Cup semi-finals.

Save in Athens gave Christidis

By MENO TOUTSIDIS

"Well, I can't stop them all. Some get away.

Christidis, 34, and the man Greeks call "Mr Penalty" was referring to Murray Barnes' 72nd minute penalty kick which gave Australia a 1-1 draw in their recent international with Greece at the SCG.

Most goalkeepers fear the moment referees point to the penalty spot, but Nicolaos Christidis sees it as his greatest challenge.

"Let's face it," he says, "If it weren't for penalty kicks i wouldn't be here right now."

Christidis has a point. About 18 months ago he was sitting on the reserves bench watching current Greek champions AEK play Queen Park Rangers in a UEFA Cup quarter final match in Athens.

The Greeks were leading 3-0, (QPR had won the first leg in London two weeks earlier 3-0) and two minutes of extra time remained. The match was destined to be settled with penalties.

It was at this point that Christidis, whom many fans believed had his best years behind him after playing 28 times for Greece, came on as the substitute goalkeeper.

Nicolaos Christidis,

The 40,000 Greek fans couldn't understand the move, but it didn't take them long to figure it out.

The match went into The match went into penalties and Christidis stopped the first QPR attempt. The Greeks also missed a penalty and with QPR ready to take the last kick of the evening, the Greeks led 4-3.

David Webb was to take the last penalty. The man who scored the winning goal for Chelsea in the 1970 FA Cup final replay against Leeds, struck the ball hard and high but Christidis saved it.

"Yes," he says, "it was an unforgettable night. 1977 was to be my last year but here I am in 1978 and getting ready for the next World Cup."

Christidis paused for a moment and continued: "To tell you the truth, the way! fail after the game with the fans chanting and chanting and refusing to bome! I didn't care if I didn't play again.

"I reached the highest point in my career that night but of course when the euphoria died down I had different ideas."

"Yes. I was afraid from the very start. I was convinced Webb was going to shoot to the left hand corner but at the very last second I remembered that when I remembered that when I remembered that when I saved a Peter Osgood penalty two years earlier he shot to the right. Webb of course, played with Osgood at Chelsea then, so I dived to the right and I saved it."

What is the secret of saving penalty kicks?

"Excellent reflexes and plenty of good luck. You can be agile as a panther but un-less you dive in the correct corner you may as well try to leap to the moon."

Christidis played in all three recent matches against Australia but had little to do. In the Melbourne international where the Greeks won 2-1, Gary Cole beat him with a great second half goal but in the order two games he was rarely tested.

But Christidis expects plenty of action against Rus-sla in September in Greece's opening European Nations Cup match.

"It will be very difficult to beat the Russians in Moscow but we have a very fine team," he says

"There will be up to four changes to this present team but the most important will be the inclusion of Tasos Mavros (AEK).

"He is only 21, but he can take on any defender in the world. Take a note of his name, he will be making headlines in the next few years."

Mavros, who scored two goals in that 3-0 win over CPR, broke his right arm a week before the Greeks left for Australia, during the Greek Cup final (AEK 2-0) in which he scored.

And what of Australia?

"Very Impressed. I think if your new coach can bring together your best footballers and get the best out of them we may well see Australia in Spain in 1982."

It will be a soccer war, a close encounter of the feroclous kind:

to 1,000 it would be a shot in the arm for the state League if the attendance could reach the magical five figures, as well as boost the two club's claim for a spot in the national league — something about which much has been written in 'Soccer Action'. I think the crowd will be around the 9000 mark.

Makedonia and Croatia are the super powers of the State League. In recent week hey've been destroying all opposition that crossed their paths.

Now the two are on a collision course and powering full steam shead.

Let's recall their two earlier meetings this season. The first clash — soccer war one — was staged at Olympic Park (the venue for Sunday's game) in late March. Croatia the stock of the Ampol Cup a trophy it won also in 1977 it was an even game and sale was were needed to separate the teams.

The game showed that Makedonia wasn't fit, but was a capable team. Croatia was a tast, lit and well organised outfit, with many individual stars.

The second meeting of the two teams can't be used as a guideline. Played at Makedonia's B.T. Connor Reserve, Croatia had a decisive 2-0 win. Makedonia played without confidence and determination, and it was no surprise when three weeks later, coach Bill Dumbell was sacked.

The presence of Billy Voltek in the Croatia team is a bad omen for Makedonia. The former Soccaroo has never finished on the losing side and has accred many goals for Croatia against Makedonia. Voltek has been a 'bogey' man to Makedonia since 1984 when, as a 19-year-old, he helped Croatia win the First Division championship and gain promotion to the State League. The runner up that year was ... you guessed it . . . Makedonia.

Makedonia has managed to beat Croatia a few times over the years. However, unless the Preston boys are victorious on Sunday, the Voltek

One aspect of the Makedonia/Croatia game the duel of the two coaches takes on a new dimension when statistics are studied when statistics are studied closely.

The tactics and manoeuvres employed by Billy McArthur of Croatia and Eric Leablirel of Makedonia will have a big bearing on the game but figures show, in terms of success, Lesbirel has the edge.

The former New Zealand international became coach of Makedonia after round four. At that stage, the team had lost three games and drawn one. However, since then Makedonia hasn't lost a game and has scored 25 goals. Lesbirel has a 94% success rate.

MCATHUR took over effer round sould be success.

McArthur took over after round seven. His first game as coach ended in defeat, but since then the team has a 100% record. In five games under McArthur, Croatia has scored 12 goals. His success rate is 83%. Croatia's longest unbeaten run is seven Croatia's longest unbeaten run is seven games.

These figures could be ignored, but the success-hungry Croatians don't like being second best and will no doubt be out to rectify the situation.

Makedonia knows what it's like to finish second. Twice this season it has been beaten by Croatia, but the Macedonian supporters are confident of a different result this time.

He likes to go forward, and he can afford to neglect his defensive duties because Blaseveski lies deep and Leabirel rarely commits himself to go forward. I'm not going to make a prediction on which team will win. However, I will not be surprised if the game finishes in a draw.

Koeln won the first Bundesliga championship in 1964 and had to wait until now to repeat that success. This time Koeln went one better, adding the Cup as well. The double had been achieved previously by Schalke in 1937 and by Bayern Muenchen in 1969.

And so the championship was decided on goal average, when Koeln won its last match 5-0 against relegated St Pauli, Gladbach seemed to have no hope at all, but Gladbach came so close by beating Dortmund 12-0 in the last match.

Those 12 goals were not enough, but charges that Dortmund had thrown the match led to an official inquiry by the German Football Association (DFB).

The enquiry found that there had been trouble behind the scenes at Dortmund for some time. Manager Otto Rehhagel had clashed openly with goalkeeper Peter Endrulat, and then there was the shock announcement that Volkmar Gross would be bought from Schalke to Volkmar Gross would be bought from Schalke to replace Endrulat the following season. As it turned out, the talk was premature, but it so unnerved Endrulat that he had a shocking match against Gladbach, as did the rest of the Dortmund team.

Zlatko "Tschik" Cajkovski, 54, has been appointed coach of Swiss club FC Zurich.

Zurich has also engaged Yugoslav international forward Jurica Jerkovic from Hajduk Split.

He has coached successfully with Beyern Muenchen and PC Letter in West Gerc AEK. Athers to the Greek League-Cup double. His salary at AEK was reputed to be $5000 a month, but he expects to be just as well off in Switzerland.

Cajkovski replaces former Zurich coach "Timo" Konletzka, a German who left of his own accord to take over Young Boys of Berne. Konletzka had led Zurich in more than 300 matches.

Meanwhile, the Swiss Football Federation (SFV) is making plans to change the league set-up — one of the most unusual in the world. At the moment, the 12-team First Division plays home and away and is then split up into two halves — the top half playing for the championship, the bottom half lightling against relegation.

Going into the smaller group, the clubs take half heir points total with them, with uneven numbers being rounded off upwards.

This system provides each club with 32 league lixtures, in addition to the SFV and League Cups.

But the new proposal is that the First Division revert to a straight league competition, with clubs playing each other three times, giving a total of

LONDON, — The shock signing of Argentine World Cup stars Oavaldo Ardiles and Ricardo Villa by English club Tottenham Hotspur seems likely to spark a major row in British Soccer. A longstanding Football League ban on foreign players was lifted last month, and Tottenham Manager Keith Burkinshaw shook the soccer world when he captured the signatures of mid-field players Ardiles and Villa in Buenos Aires. # Madrid and Juventus to challenge

Real Madrid, having won the championship of Spain, will be one of the most formidable obstacles to Liverpool winning its third European Cup in a row.

Liverpoel won its se-cond European Cup by beating FC Bruges of Belgium 1-0 in one of the most nondescript finals on record. The Reds won their first Cup against Borusela Moenchenglad-bach last year bach last year.

Liverpool obviously deserved those two victories and there was little doubt that the Reds were tories and there was little doubt that the Reds were the best team in Europe during those two seasons. But the presence of Real Madrid and other formidable teams Juventus, PSV Eindhoven, FC Koein and Dynamo Klev will make Liverpool's third European Cup campaign much more difficult. Real Madrid has won the Cup six times — more often than any other team — and although the last victory was back in 1966, the present team, featuring brilliant individuals Stielike of Germany, Wolff of Argentina and the courageous striker Santillana, is capable of breaking the 12-year drought. drought tish ace Kenny Dalglish.

Real Madrid's presence Real Madrid's presence brings back memories of its great players di Stefano, Puskas, Gento and Rial. di Stefano, with seven goals and Puskas with six, are still the top scorers in European Cup finals and will remain so for many decades to come.

or many decades to come.

PSV Eindhoven of Holland features defender Ernie Brandts who played so well in the World Cup when he was selected to replace injured Wim Rijsbergen.

The van der Kerkhoftwins also play for Eindhoven, as does international goalkeeper van Beveren, stopper van Kraey and striker van der Kruylen.

Germany's new champion, Koeln, coached by Hennes Welsweller, has in Cullmann, Flohe and Neumann, the best midfield trio in the Bundesliga, and of course Dieter Mueller was the league's top scorer.

Juventus had no less than 10 men in Italy's World Cup squad — Zoff, Cabrini, Cuccureddu, Gentile, Maldera, Scirea, Benetti, Tardelli, Causlo and Bettegs.

It Liverpool can win the European Cup against opposition like that, it will certainly be remembered as one of the greatest teams the world has seen.

The era Greig

Glasgow Rangers are about to enter the era of John Greig. That may seem a bit non-sensical as Greig has, after all, been associated with

I hat may seem a bit non-sensical as Greig has, after all, been associated with Rangers for 16 years. However, whereas he has been a player until now, Greig is now manager of the great Scottish club — the position he has airmed for these past few years as he sensed his playing career drawing to a close. He went out with much style, helping Rangers win the Premier League championship, the Scottish Cup and the League Cup. While it was a memorable last season for Greig the player to the control of the season of Greig the player to the control of the season of Greig for greig the manager.

Il will asso prove a fast to follow for Greig the manager. John Greig made his debut for Hangers against Airdrie in 1962, after playing for the Junior club Edina Hearts.

Actually he was a Hearts anatic in his youth and it was always his dream to play for Hearts one day.

But with Hearts he would never have experienced the glory he achieved at Ibrox—Iwo Player of the Year awards, championships and awards, cnampionships and Cups galore and of course 44 international caps for John Greig -- replaced Jock Wallace as manager of Rangers.

"When Rangers signed me I was a bit overawed by all the big name players around me". he says. It was a new world and it is just marvellous to think I played my part in their more recent history as a player and hope to play an even bigger part as mananer.

"I have never hidden my ambition to become a manager. I can't think what! would be like without football. I just don't know what! would do with my time. I would drive the wife crazy, hanging around the house all the time."

With play swinging from end to end at the start Richmond were a little fortunate to go ahead in the eighth minute. A Richmond forward was adjudged to have been fouled inside the penalty box and Curcija scored from the spot kick. Eitham were titul of flight and aithough they attacked on many occasions. Skinner in the Richmond backline was a tower of strength. Unfortunately the Eitham crosses into the penalty area saw Muench easily able to catch the ball although under pressure. The Eitham flight back was rewarded in the 22 minute when Alan Raynes headed on the ball into McIntoshe's path and although under pressure.

Maybe referees could start Issuing "smiley badges" instead of those other cards, and as Mr Malcolm W. Wells suggests, put some FUN back into the soor.

As I said before Mr Wells is the author of this article, and I have taken the liberty to quote only the parts which relate to soccer. Mr Wells writes:

soccer. Mr Wells writes:
Fun is a term which, while in everyday use in our society, is extremely difficult to define when one is pressured to doe so. Traditionally fun has been associated with euphorla and light-heartedness. The Oxford Dictionary suggests that fun is synonymous with sport, amusement or play. Fun is that feeling of 'having a good time', 'feeling good'.

"If sport is fun, and just ask any young boy playing his first should be an activity that is sought universally by all! "For the child the initial motive for entering a game environment is to find FUN. Goffman (1961) suggests that for a game to provide maximum opportunity for spontaneous involvement it must provide:

- an opportunity for sanc-tioned display of relevant attributes, valued by the wider world; and
- an environment which is non-threatening to the participant, both physically and psychologically, inter-nally and externally.

"Many little leagues emphasise the ends-winning — rather than the means — surface than the means — surface that the surface that this young charges at half time, or from the sideline, is a common sight, introduction of a philosophy of professionalism based on a Winning Isn't everything — it's the only thing' type approach is the norm rather than the exception.

parently he wrecked South Melbourne Hellas the same way.

Buljevic played for OFK Belgrade in Yugoslavia before coming to Australia in 1988 to join Footscray J.U.S.T. He got into the Victorian State team almost immediately and of all the men still playing, Buljevic is the one who scored the most goals for Victoria. In 1989 and 1971 he was a key man in the J.U.S.T. team that won the State League Championship, and he continued to play for J.U.S.T. until the start of 1976, when he switched to Alexander for $12,500.

In 1972 he was introduced to the Australian team and was top score of the tour of Asia. In 1974 he played in the World Cup finals in West Germany.

Buljevic has everything a player needs. I urge all youngsters to make a point of going along to watch Buljevic in action next time Alexander plays at a ground near you.

Once again we've seen quite a few guest players in the PSL this year — Pirie, Davourlis, Stravopodis of Olymple, Marinello of Canberra, Mountford and Johnston of Newcastle, Koemina of Adelaide Juventus.

All were brought here for their public relations value as well as their ability, but none of them really shone in the way that inspires headlines.

I of course admired the skill of Peter Marinello and the goalscoring ability of Bill Pirie, but of all the guest players, Con Davourlis impressed me most.

Unfortunately he joined Olympic when it was a team of little spirit because it was stuggling near the foot of the ladder.

Yet Davourlis showed tremendous skill and fine touches and to me he looked a brilliant footballer.

However, overall, we have seen once again that bringing players here on a temporary basis is no solution.

They take time to settle in and when they leave again, the club faces the problem of having to replace them, and virtually having to start from scratch.

The win at all cost approach is easily impressed on the minds of the young sportsman or sportswoman at this age."
